

Eden Prairie NEWS

Thursday, September 3, 2009

BrightStar offers home care to seniors, children

“Beginning in 2011, baby boomers will turn 65 at the rate of 10,000 a day,” according to a news release. Perry Burke, who owns BrightStar in Minneapolis, said his home health care business serves several senior clients in Eden Prairie.

“We provide home health care to people that are at home, so what we want to do is we want to help them stay independent longer,” Burke said. The business provides services from a simple ride to a doctor’s appointment or light housekeeping to skilled nursing care. In addition, the business now provides child care.

Costs range from about $19 per hour to up to $125 for a 24-hour period. For more information, call 612-821-7909 or visit www.brightstarcare.com.

“We are delighted to be serving the Eden Prairie community,” Burke said. “We don’t just recommend our own services, we make sure that if people need services outside of what we provide that we can get them to them. It’s not just about making a living, it’s about taking care of our community.”